STURGIS, S.D. (AP) - Sturgis police say the death of a man whose body was found in Bear Butte Creek over the weekend does not appear suspicious.

Residents in the area say two youths found the body near mid-day Sunday. Police Chief Jim Bush says the body has been identified as 32-year-old Phillip Comes Flying, who lived in a nearby apartment building.

Bush says it appears Come Flying accidentally fell down a hill.

Come Flying was last seen Saturday night.
