(DAWES COUNTY)-With the continual accumulation of snow over the past week and a half, Dawes County road crews have been working hard to keep county roads clear. Dawes County commissioner Jake Stewart says despite the wait that some residents experienced last week as crews attempted to open up roads for travel, most people seemed grateful for the snow.

Stewart says it took a little extra effort for road crews to tackle the heavy volume of snow last week, but even for them, the extra moisture will be a benefit.
