(S.D.)-Rapid City Water Tower Star May Come Down

RAPID CITY, S.D. (ASSOCIATED PRESS) - There might be less twinkle in the sky above Rapid City next Christmas.

Public Works Committee members have recommended taking down a star from atop the Skyline water tower that was put up in 2006 to help spread holiday cheer.

The public works director says it has become a safety issue for city employees, it interferes with communications equipment and the lights can hardly be seen.

The City Council will decide the matter on Sept. 3.
