Chadron State College's football game against West Texas A&M on Sept. 12 at Dallas Cowboys Stadium is one of six Division II regular season televised games that will be broadcast by CBS Sports Network, the NCAA announced Monday.

"It's a great opportunity for our team to play in that type of atmosphere and we're excited to be one of 12 teams featured for a national TV audience," head coach Jay Long said. "I think our alumni and fans will be proud of the product we put the field and we're excited to show what Chadron State football is all about."

The six-game Thursday night slate opens Sept. 5 and features seven teams from last year's championship field, including two national semifinalists.

The Chadron State and West Texas A&M matchup is the marquee game of the Lone Star Football Festival Thursday, Sept. 12 at 6 p.m. It's a rematch of the opening round game of the 2012 playoffs, which the Buffalos won 38-30.

Division II enters the eighth year of its partnership with CBS Sports Network in 2013, with nearly 25 percent of the division's football-playing members having enjoyed national television exposure during the course of the agreement.
