(Chadron)-During the winter season it is a time when dangerous driving conditions become more common. Snow and ice lead to slick and hazardous roadways. That's why it is always a good habit to remember to buckle up. The week of November 19th-November 25th the Chadron Police Department will be conducting their "Click It or Ticket" grant campaign. The officers will be specifically searching for drivers who are not using safety restraints in vehicles, as well as children safety restraints, such as car seats.

Last year in Nebraska it was reported that 105 or 71% of the 145 fatally injured passenger vehicle occupants were not wearing seatbelts. The Click It or Ticket program has been running since 2002 and officer Bauer says that the Chadron Police Department can run this campaign sometimes twice a year.

Ten patrol officers and three communication dispatchers will participate in the grant. The Chadron Police Department would like to remind motorists to practice safe driving habits, buckle up and have a safe and enjoyable holiday season.
