(Neb.)-Brain Injury Conference In April Will Aim To Help Those With Injuries

By: Roxie Graham-Marski Posted at: 03/11/2013 07:39 AM

KEARNEY, Neb. (AP) - Nebraska's annual brain injury conference will offer information to help those with brain injuries and their families.

The Nebraska Brain Injury Advisory Council is co-sponsoring the conference as well as a free March 27 national webinar on technology that could help people with brain injuries.

The 7th Annual Brain Injury Conference will offer sessions to help individuals and their families address adjustment, coping, acceptance and expressing themselves through journaling.

The conference will be held April 4-5 in Kearney.

Registration closes March 27. Register for the conference and the webinar at www.braininjury.ne.gov. Call 888-806-6287 for more information.
