(Col.)-Roberson's Decision Still A Mystery

By: Chris Fankhauser Posted at: 04/26/2013 08:53 AM

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) - There still is no word whether the nation's second-best rebounder will turn pro or return to Colorado for his senior season.

Junior forward Andre Roberson and Buffaloes coach Tad Boyle were scheduled to discuss his decision at a news conference Friday morning, but that briefing was canceled and the school said there are "currently no plans at this time to reschedule."

The deadline for non-seniors to announce their status is Sunday.

Roberson led the Pac-12 with an 11.2-rebounding average to go with his 10.9-point scoring average and helped the Buffaloes reach their second straight NCAA tournament for the first time in a half-century.

At 210 pounds, Roberson lacks the size of prototypical rebounders but makes up for it with his leaping ability and skills around the basket.
