(Chadrad Sports)- Moos also addressed the current situation with Husker men's basketball coach Tim Miles and his status as Nebraska has lost four straight and six of it's last eight to fall out of NCAA Tournament contention for the time being.

Tim Miles is our basketball coach. I support him," Moos said. "I want to win every game from here on out; I think we're capable of that. It's unfortunate that we have some injury things that we're concerned with now, but we need to bounce back and play well, and we can still have a very, very good season."

The Huskers are back in action Saturday afternoon against Illinois.
