(Lincoln)- Husker basketball fans can officially start counting down to the start of the Fred Hoiberg era, as the Nebraska men's basketball program released its 2019-20 non-conference schedule on Wednesday.

The 11-game non-conference slate includes three games at the Cayman Islands Classic, a meeting with Georgia Tech in the Big Ten/ACC Challenge, the annual in-state matchup with Creighton and a renewal of games against regional foes South Dakota State and North Dakota.

The Huskers will officially open the Fred Hoiberg era on Tuesday, Nov. 5, when the Huskers host UC Riverside in the first meeting between the two programs. It is the earliest season-opener in school history.

Southern Utah, Southern Univeristy, and Texas A&M-Corpus Christi will also make trips to Lincoln this year.

The 17-game home schedule at Pinnacle Bank Arena this season is highlighted by 10 Big Ten matchups, including tilts with NCAA qualifiers Michigan State, Purdue, Michigan, Ohio State, Iowa and Wisconsin, along with games against Indiana, Northwestern, Penn State and Rutgers.
